The first of these is the fact that the data are not normally distributed. The data are skewed to the right, with a long tail of high values. This is evident from the histogram, which shows a peak at the low end of the scale and a long tail extending to the right.

This image shows a highly textured, monochromatic surface, likely a scan of a physical object. The texture is characterized by a dense distribution of small, dark, irregular specks and scratches against a lighter, grainy background. The lighting is uneven, with a bright, overexposed area on the left and a dark, shadowed area on the right, creating a strong sense of depth and texture. The overall appearance is that of a rough, weathered material, possibly metal or stone, captured in a high-contrast, black-and-white format.
